YOSHI•NO•GAWA | GOLDEN HORIZON

Golden Horizon pays tribute to the beautiful golden rice fields found in the Niigata Prefecture. This stunning landscape produces some of the most highly regarded rice in all of Japan, a reputation of which they are most proud.

This saké is made with Gohyakumangoku rice, a popular saké rice from Niigata prefecture. It was registered in 1957 under its name, which translates to “five million koku,” or approximately nine million liters, as a commemoration of Niigata’s rice yield surpassing the five million koku mark that year.

TASTING NOTES

Lovely water notes express the rich agricultural region of Niigata while citrus and spice overtones give a glimpse into the brewer’s craft. A balance of savory and sweet marks this truly expressive yet subtle saké.
